A great deal more fun for young people

Sierra Nevada's Terrain Park will be continuing offering this season in the Loma de Dilar area the longest slope style line in Europe and begins to be a worldwide point of reference for freestyle: tricks, impossible somersaults, extravagant manoeuvres, pro riders and gliding in an explosion of colour with juvenile audacity. The biggest permanent half pipe in Spain and one of the biggest in Europe puts the final finishing touch to installations that have absolutely everything.

With more than 105 kilometres of trails contained in 118 ski runs, Sierra Nevada provides one of the largest and most attractive skiing domains in southern Europe. This most southernmost winter resort in Europe stands out as having the greatest skiable vertical drop in Spain (1,200 metres), for the size of its trails, and for the daily ski slope grooming (382 snowcat-groomed hectares), with clean, wide, obstacle-free slopes for all levels.

A great deal more sport

Much more family entertainment

This season Sierra Nevada will be hosting the biggest global winter multi-sports event for student-athletes: the 2015 Winter Universiade. More than 1,500 participants from more than 50 countries will compete in the most spectacular winter disciplines of Alpine Ski, Freestyle Ski and Snowboarding. The new "speed track" will be undoubtedly one of the greatest tests. The international sport challenge taking place from the 4th to the 14th of February will be the star trial of the season in which the Granada winter resort will be hosting thirty-odd official competitions.

This season Sierra Nevada creates new areas for family skiing and snowboarding. The great innovation this winter season will be the El Mar piste, a place with a maritime decoration where parents and children can interact with the new facilities while skiing.

Moreover, there is a special place for children at the beginners' area where, beside the Dauro carpet ski lift, they will find a new route with woodland animals that ends in an igloo camp.

The builders of the Sulayr snowpark have fitted out the Kidspark, a circuit of partially buried modules next to the Loma de Dilar chairlift so that the youngest children, accompanied by their parents, can take their first steps in the freestyle skiing in a safe and fun way.

Much more than a mountain

Does a leading ski resort exist at only 30 minutes by car from a monumental city famous for its cultural and leisure facilities, at only 90 minutes away from the resplendent Mediterranean beaches, and with half a dozen golf clubs on the way? Sierra Nevada, Granada and the Costa Tropical have all these and a great deal more in an environment difficult to find in any other part of the world.

Much more in the summer

The only one year old Sierra Nevada Bikepark has become a national reference in the national mountain bike sector and the central focus of the summer in the resort due to its rally and descent circuits.

Sierra Nevada is also a setting for summer camps for youngsters, sports and language immersion, juvenile attractions centre, trekking in the melting snow, in the highlands, horse-riding routes, extreme sporting competitions, music festival and also gastronomy.
